Mick Confirms the house is on the market!

GLENMORE Park couple Brendan and Sharon Sammit and their two children are off to the right start having successfully bid at a charity auction at Oran Park Town on Saturday.

The Right Start charity received about $100,000 towards the construction of Australia's first specialised Down syndrome centre in the Macarthur region following the auction.

The house went under the hammer for $521,000 and brought to an end months of hard work by The Right Start members and Macarthur-area businesses and community groups that contributed to building the four-bedroom home.

Mr Sammit said knowing he'd helped a charity while buying his family's dream home was perfect. "We have two beautiful and healthy kids and buying a house which will help a childrens' charity played a big part in us being at the auction," he said. "I know how hard it is when you have two kids but having some with Down syndrome would be even harder."

The Right Start co-founder Glenda Graban said the auction had been a nervous experience. "I was shaking the whole way through the auction and I can't believe we've finally sold the house," Mrs Graban said. "Thank you to everyone involved"
